BACKGROUND

Music has always been one of the most important and powerful things in my life. A childhood obsession with collecting film and TV scores led me to a career in theatrical Sound Design, working on musicals and plays throughout the United States and all over the world. After earning my Masters Degree from Carnegie Mellon University, my background in music and narrative entertainment brought me to MICDI. As a Music Editor I focus foremost on helping score and music serve story, and on a commitment to positive client collaboration. My colleagues and I at MICDI take pride in delivering the quality work that has become expected of a company with our reputation and history.
