BACKGROUND

Mark started his musical journey playing drums at the age of 10. As well as drums, Mark also played several brass instruments in high school. However, his skills on the drums led to a long and successful career as a recording and touring drummer. He has toured and recorded with such artists as Donna Summer and Bill Withers - both Rock and Roll Hall Famers. He can even be heard performing drums and percussion on the score of Showtime Network's series, Dexter. Mark eventually landed work as a music editor working on commercials, television, and film. He enjoyed the unique and challenging aspects of the magical marriage between music, story, and picture and loves working closely with some of the most talented composers in the world. Because of Mark's musical background, he has a great ability to address a composer's needs as well as what a producer may be looking for. He really enjoys that collaboration. Mark has been an independent music editor for most of his career but has recently joined up with the incredibly talented group of music editors here at MICDI Productions.
